

Piazza Grande Spumante Rosato di Modena NV

Region

With a varied geography, many different micro-climates and a vast array of grape varieties and viticultural traditions, it is not surprising that Italy can offer a full range of sparkling wine in all styles and quality. The Spumante wines of Piedmont, centred around the town of Asti, are the best known; These are usually medium dry and sweet sparkling wines made by the tank method from Moscato grapes. The drier Prosecco Spumante is produced in the Veneto region from Glera grapes using the same tank or transfer method. Rose sparkling is made from Raboso grapes. The cooler Alpine regions are the source of Italy's finer method traditional sparkling wines, often including blends of Chardonnay, Pinot Blanc and Pinot Noir. Tank fermented sparkling wines are produced in many other of Italy's warmer regions.

Producer

Cantina di Carpi e Sorbara is a cooperative which focusses on making wines using the following local Lambrusco varieties. Sorbara, Salamino, Maestri, Marani Viadanese and Pignoletto. In the early 1900's a few wineries joined together with Dr. Alfredo Molinari to avoid the threat of a crisis. They stuck together and gained more members and after the end of WW1 in 1918, the Civil Society officially became a cooperative. Since then, the Cooperative has gone from strength to strength gaining new members and using innovative techniques and modern technology.

Tasting Notes

This sparkling rose from Modena in the Emilia Romagna region of Italy is made from local Lambrusco varietals. Delicate cherry pink in colour with a floral bouquet. The palate is fresh with notes of red cherries, strawberries and blossom combined with a creamy mousse and delicate acidity.

Food

Try on its own as an aperitif or with a vegetable or seafood risotto.
